

School of CIS
Faculty Position AD

The School of Computer and Information Sciences at the University of South Alabama is seeking an assistant or associate professor tenure-track faculty member for its Information Technology Program. A Ph.D. in information technology, information systems, computer science or a closely-related area is required. A qualified candidate must be able to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in a variety of information technology subject areas including network administration, network security, web applications development, information assurance, and digital forensics. An applicant must also demonstrate a strong record of, or show potential for, continuous excellence in research, extramural funding, and teaching.

Prospective candidates should send a letter of application, a resume and the names and contact information for 3 references to: Chair, Faculty Search Committee, School of CIS, FCW 20, University of South Alabama, Mobile, AL 36688 or email to: facultysearchchair@cis.usouthal.edu. Applications will be reviewed beginning July 8, 2009 and continue until the position is filled. Although the earliest beginning date for the position is Spring 2010, candidates who are available for the fall 2010 will receive equal consideration. The University of South Alabama is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Employer.
