

Graduate Health Education

Teacher Education

This 33 hour program is designed to help secondary school teachers achieve the Alabama Masters level “A” certificate. Students are educated and trained to teach health as a subject, implement school health education programs, promote a healthy school environment, and develop school and community partnerships. Course work includes a variety of curriculum and teaching, professional studies, technology, and teaching field courses. Teaching field course work addresses issues related to substance abuse prevention, nutrition and weight control, disease prevention, and other pertinent health issues.

Contact: Dr. Shelley Bradford (251) 461-1611
sbradford@southal.edu

Click on the link below to view the course of study.
<http://www.southalabama.edu/coe/forms/heaa.pdf>