

USA Division of Gastroenterology
Job Description and Graded Responsibilities Policy

Third Year Fellows

- Inpatient consultations supervised by faculty
- Ambulatory clinic consultations and follow-up care
- Call for practice and consultation supervised by faculty
- Perform endoscopic procedures as directed by patient care
- Case presentations for conference
- Fellow conference lectures
- Elective rotations in research and interventional biliary disorders
- Cover Call as supervised by attending supervising junior fellow
- In supervised atmosphere, supervises and teaches endoscopy
- Teaches endoscopy to surgical residents
- Coordinates lecture series
- Coordinates Nutrition lectures for students

Second Year Fellows

- Inpatient consultations supervised by faculty
- Ambulatory clinic consultations and follow-up care
- Call for practice and consultation supervised by faculty
- Perform endoscopic procedures as directed by patient care
- Case presentations for conference
- Fellow conference lectures
- Elective rotations in radiology, research, interventional biliary disorders and hepatic pathology
- Assist endoscopic teaching of first year fellows
- Teaches endoscopy to surgical residents
- Coordinates pathology conferences and cases
- Didactic lectures to nutrition students

First Year Fellows

- Inpatient consultations supervised by faculty
- Ambulatory clinic consultations and follow-up care
- Call for practice and consultation supervised by faculty
- Perform endoscopic procedures as directed by patient care
- Case presentations for conference
- Fellow conference lectures
- Elective rotations in radiology and pediatric gastroenterology
- Late year teaching of endoscopy to surgical residents
- Didactic lectures to students