enable the University to achieve its full potential.
Dear Friends,

With pleasure we present our second annual Honor Roll of Donors. Through this publication, the University expresses its appreciation for all those who have made charitable gifts to support USA’s mission and to provide the margin of excellence necessary to achieve true greatness as a University. This report recognizes all donors who have made a gift during fiscal year October 1, 2003 to September 30, 2004 and all of our donors who have made charitable gifts over the years totaling $25,000 or more thus qualifying for permanent inclusion in our annual Honor Roll of Donors.

We thank each of you for the great support you have given us this past year. Your philanthropy has enabled us to achieve a record year of giving of $11,550,571 and a record number of donations of 4,639. The strength of your gift support shows that this University has matured and is of such quality to gain your confidence and your investment in her future.

I call your attention especially to the many examples of gifts which are highlighted through this book. Virtually, every part of the University – academic, athletic, and the USA health care system – has benefited from your support in so many different ways. Thank you for entrusting us with your gift support and we publicly thank all who have given to the University during the year covered by this report.

This annual Honor Roll of Donors is dedicated to you, our donors.

Sincerely,

Joseph F. Busta, Jr.

DR. AND MRS. JACK HAYS

Dr. Jack Hays, a retired ophthalmologist, ear, nose and throat specialist, and allergist, and his wife, Courtney, have made one of the largest single gifts in the University’s history to support USA’s programs in health care related fields.

The Hays’ bayside property in Montrose has been deeded to the University and the Hays will continue to live on the property until such time as they no longer desire to do so. At that time, the property will be sold and the funds used to create the “Courtney and Jack Hays Endowment Fund for Excellence in Medical Sciences” to support USA’s health related programs in the colleges of Medicine, Nursing and Allied Health Professions. Giving the University discretion over how the funds will be used, Dr. Hays said, “They can set it up any way that can help the students best.”

Dr. and Mrs. Hays have, throughout their lifetime, set an example of philanthropy. Throughout his career, Dr. Hays made more than 40 medical missionary trips to underdeveloped countries such as India, Africa and Puerto Rico, usually accompanied by his wife. Of the gifts to USA, Mrs. Hays said they reflect their personal philosophy of philanthropy. “We want to help people,” said Mrs. Hays. “That is what’s important to us.”
Point Clear Charities Inc., a local philanthropic organization, has sponsored USA’s cancer research efforts for more than a decade.

The organization is responsible for generating approximately $2.5 million in support of the chair and other projects, including $200,000 in contributions to Project Hope, a program benefiting pediatric cancer patients at USA Children’s and Women’s Hospital.

The most recent beneficiary of the charitable group, Joseph LoCicero III, M.D., director of the Center for Clinical Oncology at the University of South Alabama Cancer Research Institute, has been named to the Point Clear Charities Chair in Cancer Research. Dr. LoCicero brings more than 30 years experience in patient care, research and teaching to USA’s Cancer Research Institute.

According to LoCicero, the academic mission of the USA Cancer Research Institute makes it unique to the Gulf Coast. “Our focus is not only to provide the best possible care to cancer patients in the region but to teach the next generation of physicians, and to develop the next treatments and tools for the future management of the disease cancer.”

Point Clear Charities board member Camille Corte said the University’s emphasis on cancer research led her group to begin supporting the institution more than a decade ago.

“So many of our families had been touched by cancer, and we realized that research was the answer,” she said. “Treatment is important, but we were really interested in the cure or the prevention of the disease.

“I don’t know of a family that hasn’t been affected by cancer in some way, and to our group that was quite important.”

According to Dr. Joseph Busta, vice president for development and alumni relations, the organization’s steadfast support has helped the University better position itself as a leader in cancer research and treatment.

“Point Clear Charities’ early investment in the cancer research chair and Project Hope helped lay the foundation on which the USA Cancer Institute was built,” he said. “The legacy of this organization will continue to impact our region as the Institute works to improve the quality of life for cancer patients and their families.”

Endowed chairs, such as the one supported by Point Clear Charities Inc., will grow increasingly important as the University develops the USA Cancer Institute, explained Dr. Robert Kreisberg, USA vice president for medical affairs and dean of the College of Medicine. Not only does an endowment help to subsidize the cost of bringing top research faculty to the Institute, but it also adds a level of prestige that makes recruiting easier.

“The development of the Cancer Research Institute at the University of South Alabama is the largest, single endeavor undertaken in the history of the University, and its success depends upon recruiting highly qualified individuals to assume leadership roles,” Kreisberg said.

“The Point Clear Charities Cancer Research Chair makes it possible to recruit leaders in cancer treatment and research to this institution.”
The SILVER JAGUAR SOCIETY recognizes current gift commitments or cumulative giving over the years from $100,000 to $999,999.

DR. AND MRS. STEVEN STOKES

USA Trustee, Dr. Steven Stokes and his wife, Angelia, have made it a practice to give back to their community and to the University of South Alabama where Dr. Stokes received his medical degree and Angelia received an undergraduate degree in business. They established the Angelia and Steve Stokes Scholarship in Fiction and Poetry to show the couple’s appreciation to USA upon the 20th anniversary of their graduation, and have made a significant contribution to the USA Cancer Research Institute.

Reflecting on the creative writing endowment and the scholarship in fiction and poetry, Dr. Stokes said, “A society will be remembered by the literature it produces. I hope we can find someone who will be a great writer from our area and University.”

The BRONZE JAGUAR SOCIETY recognizes current gift commitments or cumulative giving over the years from $25,000 to $99,999.

CALDWELL SCHOLARSHIP

The James and Ivel Caldwell Scholarship, established in 1994, has helped 14 USA students gain international training. The endowment, established by the family and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell helps students in the College of Arts & Sciences travel and study abroad.

The late Dr. Caldwell was a well-known educator in Alabama and several foreign countries. During USA’s formative years, Dr. Caldwell served as vice president for development and contracts. He also wrote, “Magic - No! Miracle - Yes! The Founding and Early Development of the University of South Alabama.”

Jim Caldwell, a son of the late Dr. Caldwell, said his father had a vision for USA and Mobile’s international presence because of its strategic location on the Gulf of Mexico. “This University should serve its interests by educating people in international politics and culture,” Mr. Caldwell said.

The most recent recipient of the scholarship, Rachel Kleinpeter, spent last summer in Germany polishing her language and cultural skills at the prestigious Goethe Institute in Frankfurt. “I’d like to thank the Caldwell family for giving the money to students in foreign language at the University,” she said. “It was really helpful because the Goethe Institute is one of the most expensive language schools in the country.” Kleinpeter plans to make a career in government, with her interests focusing on counter intelligence, fraud and felony criminal investigations.
Andy and Carol Denny

USA Alumnus Andy Denny and his wife have funded the first USA National Alumni Association Endowment under a new program approved by the National Alumni Board. The “Andy and Carol Denny Excellence in Teaching Award” was established through a gift from the Denny’s which was matched by his employer and the University.

A former Jag basketball player, Andy said he chose to attend USA because of the coaches and the opportunity to be a part of an up-and-coming University. He received his education degree in 1972 followed by a master’s in 1973.

“It's people like me, and other graduates, who have a responsibility to support the University today and tomorrow,” Denny said. This endowment’s focus on teaching reflects Denny's appreciation for the faculty at USA. “These good faculty members don't get enough credit for what they do,” he said.

As an example of his dedication to and love of the University, Andy Denny, an Indiana resident, purchased season tickets to the Jag baseball games. On a recent business trip while waiting in the airport for his flight, Denny observed a group of youngsters also waiting for the flight. One of the young boys was wearing a South Alabama baseball cap. Denny approached him and asked if he lived in Mobile and if he is a Jaguar baseball fan. The boy eagerly told him that he loved baseball and was a Jag fan to which Denny responded, “How would like to go to some Jag baseball games?” Excited, the young boy said that he would really like that. Denny then told the boy that he had season tickets and that he would send them to him so that he could enjoy USA Jaguar baseball. What a great alumnus!

Michael McGlothren

Local attorney and USA alumnus, Michael McGlothren, established a new scholarship endowment in honor of his parents. The Charles R. and Olivia Rambo Endowed Scholarship will benefit philosophy students in the College of Arts and Sciences. But this was not McGlothren’s first gift to the philosophy department. In 1995, he made an endowment gift to honor the memory of his late brother, Charles. That same year, he established a philosophy speaker’s endowment fund in honor of his parents and in 2000, made an additional endowment gift to the speaker’s fund.

The focus of his gifts has been the philosophy department. McGlothren said he arrived at USA as a freshman math major, but he had an epiphany in his first philosophy class. “It opened my eyes,” he said. “It was as if for the first time the world opened up.”

McGlothren gives credit for his gifts to his parents. “This to me is about my parents,” he said. “They’ve been my source of inspiration in everything I’ve done. The highest compliment I can be paid is to have people say I’m like my mother and father.”

The CENTURY CLUB recognizes those donors whose annual giving is from $100 to $999.

Dr. Anne Vella, the first teacher for the USA Children’s and Women’s Hospital, has been a teacher to the pediatric patients for almost 14 years. Dr. Vella pioneered the program to have school within the hospital. She is a great advocate of and spokesman for the Children’s and Women’s Hospital.
What does “Where the Need is Greatest” mean? It means that the money given through the Faculty/Staff campaign and the Alumni Direct Mail campaign is unrestricted. It can be designated by the president for specific needs in the colleges and for student groups.

For the first time in USA history, colleges and student groups received grants through the unrestricted annual fund dollars raised during the 2003-04 Alumni Direct Mail and Faculty/Staff campaigns. These grants were made possible by donors who asked that their gift be designated to “Where the Need is Greatest.” The 12 grants awarded totaled $18,082.

Vice President for Development and Alumni Relations, Dr. Joe Busta, Jr., said the inaugural grants were a good start toward supporting the University in a new way. These funds enable President Gordon Moulton to fund opportunities or solve problems across the University system. Busta sent requests for proposals to colleges and groups across campus. The grants were used for small projects of $1,000 to $2,000 to fund student and college facility and equipment needs, research projects and other improvements.

How were these grants used? The College of Engineering used their grant to help fund a plasma screen information system; the Library purchased and installed window blinds for a student group study room; the Colleges of Arts & Sciences and Medicine funded student research projects; the College of Education purchased an electronic message system. Busta sent requests for proposals to colleges and groups across campus. The grants were used for small projects of $1,000 to $2,000 to fund student and college facility and equipment needs, research projects and other improvements.

Dr. Joe Busta, Jr., said the inaugural grants were a good start toward supporting the University in a new way.
As a student in the masters program at USA, Joanne McKnight worked in the Development office at Children's and Women's Hospital. This provided an introduction for her to the CMN Telethon. She has since become a member of the Telethon Executive Committee, an Ambassador to the hospital through the Auxiliary, and volunteers for many events sponsored by the hospital. When asked about her involvement with CWH, Joanne said, “It is a pleasure and a privilege for me to give of both my time and my money to the USA Children’s and Women’s Hospital. I know that my contributions will result in the provision of the best care, with the most up-to-date equipment and the latest technology, for the children of our area. I have a responsibility to support this unique local institution, but, by giving, I also feel a sense of ownership in the hospital and take comfort in the knowledge that, should my grandchildren need specialized or critical care, we have that service available to them right here in Mobile.”
We want to list each gift appropriately. In spite of our best efforts, errors and omissions can occur. If this is the case, please accept our apologies and notify the Office of University Development at the University of South Alabama, HSB 2150, Mobile, AL 36688, or call us at (251) 460-7032.

We want to list each gift appropriately. In spite of our best efforts, errors and omissions can occur. If this is the case, please accept our apologies and notify the Office of University Development at the University of South Alabama, HSB 2150, Mobile, AL 36688, or call us at (251) 460-7032.
Marc Seibert is a USA alumnus. But he has another connection to the University of South Alabama. His son was treated in Children's and Women's Hospital. As a result Marc has become a volunteer at the Hospital and a spokesman for the Hospital on the CMN Radiothon.
The LEGACY SOCIETY has been created as a special gift club to recognize and honor those donors who have confirmed their future gift to the University through a will, trust, insurance policy, or other deferred gift instrument.

Mr. Robert Patterson loves the University of South Alabama and the USA Jaguars - whether baseball or basketball, you can always find Robert at the games. He was one of the University’s first baseball managers and has been a long time supporter of both basketball and baseball. Robert wanted to leave a lasting gift to USA Jaguar baseball and through a life insurance policy, he will create the Robert Patterson Endowment for Baseball. When received by the University, Robert’s Legacy gift will provide support for the USA baseball team forever.

If you have designated a future gift to the University through a will, trust, insurance policy, or other deferred gift instrument, are not listed in the Legacy Society, and would like to be included in future publications, or if you would like more information about how to designate a future gift to the University, please call the Office of University Development.

DID WE MISS YOUR NAME? DID WE GET IT RIGHT?

The USA Honor Roll of Donors includes the names of all individuals, organizations, corporations, and foundations that have made a charitable contribution to the University of South Alabama. In this our first-ever Honor Roll of Donors, every effort has been made to include not only those who have made gifts or gift commitments to the University this year but also those who have made gifts to the University in years past.

If your name, or the name of your organization, corporation, or foundation has been incorrectly spelled or is not included in this publication and you feel it should be, one of the following may be the reason:

- You made a gift to USA in an area that maintains accounts separate from those at the University of South Alabama. The report does not include gifts made directly to hospital auxiliaries, the USA Foundation, the University alumni associations, the South Alabama Medical Science Foundation, the Health Services Foundation, or other University-related organizations.

- When you made your personal gift, you used your company’s check or letterhead. If this occurred, please check for the listing under your company’s title in the appropriate area.

- Your name may have changed. If so, please check for the listing under your former name.
The University of South Alabama is supported by many individuals, groups and organizations but none are more important to the University than the USA National Alumni Association, the USA Medical Alumni Association, and the Jaguar Athletic Club. It is through the fund raising efforts of these great volunteer organizations that scholarships are created, student, faculty, and employee awards are presented, academic programs are supported, athletic programs are enhanced and school spirit is exemplified.

MESSAGE FROM NATIONAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT, MIKE WINDOM

The University of South Alabama National Alumni Association’s mission is to work closely with the University and the other constituent groups within the “University family”. We aim to foster and maintain an active relationship between these groups and to develop an image that ensures the integrity and principles of the University through active participation.

Association membership is critical in order for us to accomplish our mission. Membership participation is increasing daily. The Lifetime Membership club level has grown most significantly in the past year.

The Association had a banner year, adding new members and increasing the number of alumni chapters to 11 with the addition of Washington D.C. The Association has created two new scholarships, helping to attract top-quality students to the University. It has honored faculty members and exceptional employees, as well as launching the first two named alumni award endowments: The Andy and Carol Denny Excellence in Teaching Award and the Olivia Rambo McGlothlen Outstanding Faculty Scholar Award.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge our alumni who have endowed scholarships and those who have supported the Association through membership. I also want to acknowledge the commitment and guidance of the 21-member Association Board of Directors which serves as the voice of over 47,000 USA graduates. Together we can all “Make a Difference” for our alma mater.

MESSAGE FROM THE JAGUAR ATHLETIC CLUB

At the University of South Alabama, there are seven men's athletic teams and eight women's teams all of which compete at the NCAA Division I level. All are supported by the Jaguar Athletic Club and its members from the highly visible men's and women's basketball teams to the men's baseball team to the championship tennis teams and the track and field teams.

It is the mission of the Jaguar Athletic club to provide financial assistance for funding student-athlete scholarships, supplement the ever increasing costs of team travel, recruiting and equipment purchases. In these and many other ways the JAC assists the Department of Athletics in meeting the financial challenges of competing at the NCAA Division I level.

The University of South Alabama has two of the finest sports facilities in the SunBelt Conference and in the state of Alabama – the Mitchell Center, home of the basketball Jags, and Stanky Field, home of the baseball Jags. The newly renovated and upgraded Stanky Field brings great pride to the baseball Jags and the University as a whole. With these great facilities, USA can now be host to regional NCAA tournaments as well as state and local high school and middle school tournaments.

The officers and board of directors of the Jaguar Athletic Club invite you to join the JAC and support our Jags!

OPPORTUNITIES FOR GIVING

A charitable gift to the University of South Alabama can take many forms. It can be:

- A gift of cash or securities

  The most immediately useable gifts to the University are those which come in the form of cash and in the form of securities which can be converted to cash. All gifts of cash or securities can be designated for any purpose the donor chooses.

- A corporate matching gift

  Many companies encourage their employees to be good citizens and aid their philanthropic effort by matching, and often doubling, or even tripling each employee dollar given. If one works for a matching gift company, just send the employer’s matching gift form with your check. The University Development Office and your company will take care of the details. USA will recognize both the company for their matching gift and the donor for their gift.

- A bequest through a will or living trust

  A common way of leaving a legacy to a donor’s life is with a gift left to USA in a will.

- A charitable trust or other life income plan

  Various trust arrangements such as charitable remainder unitrusts, charitable remainder annuity trusts, and charitable lead trusts may enable a donor to make a gift to the University and at the same time retain income from the assets and secure a tax advantage.

- Making the University a named beneficiary in your retirement or insurance policy

- Gifts of real and personal property

  These gifts can be anything from land, houses, and other real estate to works of art, collectibles, rare books, copyrights, oil and gas interests, as well as scientific equipment, computers, vehicles and heavy equipment. The property may be sold and invested in endowments or used for capital or operating funds. Gifts of scientific equipment or computers may go immediately into the classroom or research laboratory.
