Planned gifts can take many forms:

- including USA in a will or making a bequest
- naming the University as a beneficiary of a retirement plan
- setting up a charitable trust that will create either income for the University or a life income that can go directly to you or your designees
- through various forms of life insurance gifts
- through a life estate

If you would like information about how to plan a gift to the University or if you have designated a future gift to the University and would like to be listed in future publications, please contact the Development Office at 251-460-7032.
Estate Gift Adds to Covey’s Legacy

Retired professor and administrator Dr. Pat Capps Covey and her husband Leeman Covey made a $2 million estate gift to establish an endowed scholarship program in the College of Allied Health Professions, adding service through philanthropy to Dr. Covey’s distinguished contributions to the University.

Prior to her retirement in 2008, Dr. Covey served as a professor of biomedical sciences, founding chair of the department of clinical laboratory sciences, director of allied health professions, founding dean of the College of Allied Health Professions and senior vice president for academic affairs.

Dr. Covey was instrumental in developing many enduring University initiatives, including the undergraduate and graduate programs in the College of Allied Health Professions; a succession of institutional self-study processes for accreditation renewal by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; the USA Honors Program; guidelines for increasing student recruitment and retention; the USA Strategic Plan for Racial and Ethnic Diversity; and the partnership with Auburn University to offer a pharmacy doctoral program at USA.

“We are very happy to give back to the University that has meant so much to our lives and our community, and the place where I spent 33 years of my career,” Dr. Covey said.

Mr. Covey, a highly respected leader in higher education, government, and business endeavors in the region has been a staunch supporter of USA and the programs and initiatives led by Dr. Covey. During the time the Coveys were in Mobile, he served as vice president for financial affairs at Spring Hill College and director of fiscal affairs for the City of Mobile.

“This gift is in honor of my wife and the hard work and dedication she gave to the University. It’s a legacy we can leave for the College of Allied Health Professions, and we are very happy and proud to be able to do that,” Mr. Covey said.

In recognition of their gift, the College was named the Pat Capps Covey College of Allied Health Professions. Their gift also will establish the Leeman Harper Covey Scholars Program to support four-year scholarships for top students entering the College. The scholarships will cover tuition, room, board, and books. The Covey Scholars Program will strengthen the College’s ability to recruit the best students.
Message from President
Gordon Moulton

I am often asked how the University of South Alabama can continue moving ahead with so many important projects and initiatives in the face of economic challenges unlike any ever experienced by the University. The answer I often give is “positive momentum.”

Many of the visible examples of recent success at USA had their beginnings five or even ten years ago and are the result of numerous individual decisions and commitments made over time. They are born of long-term planning and long-view funding strategies that allow the University to move forward regardless of the current economic situation that continues to challenge us.

This approach reminds me of your personal commitment to the University, and the vital nature of annual giving. Without you – those who make it a priority to give from year to year, in good times and bad - - the University of South Alabama simply could not be as successful in achieving the many milestones we witness today. Your support is transformational in allowing us to achieve our goals and dreams toward meeting the needs of the people we serve, whether it is:

- supporting top notch faculty and health care professionals to meet the needs of our students and patients;
- attracting the largest and best student body in our history (15,007 enrolled this fall);
- opening the new Moulton Tower and Alumni Plaza;
- beginning a major addition to our Children’s and Women’s Hospital;
- fielding a top-notch football team and marching band;
- or any of many exciting developments in our missions of teaching, research, service and health care.

It is in times like these that we are most mindful and appreciative of the time, resources and energy you have invested in the University. We cherish you as loyal friends and supporters, and we are eternally grateful for your ongoing commitment as the University of South Alabama moves to an even greater level of service through “positive momentum.”

Message from the Board of Trustees

Dear Friends,

As I recently completed my three-year term as chairman of the University of South Alabama Board of Trustees, I found myself looking back over the highlights of the past few years at the University.

Even in the midst of unprecedented global economic challenges and reductions in state funding unlike any we have witnessed since the founding of our University back in 1963, it is remarkable how the University and its supporters have remained resilient and committed. Not only have we met the challenges, but we have collectively moved our institution forward. We have never lost our vision of where we want the University of South Alabama to be today, tomorrow and beyond.

We have continued with our long-planned building projects that are necessary to support our teaching, research, service and health care programs. We have enhanced student life through such projects as the student recreation center and the football/marching band initiative. We have watched our enrollment continue to increase as students and parents have selected and endorsed the quality of our academic programs. We have witnessed our hospitals and health care programs continue to touch greater numbers of patient lives with each passing day. We completed a highly successful comprehensive campaign that will forever support our faculty and students, enabling the university to meet the needs of the many constituencies it serves.

As an alumnus, one of the things that I’m most proud of is that, in spite of economic challenges, our supporters have continued to give freely, sustaining the momentum created during Campaign USA. Even though Campaign USA is completed, its impact remains in a more vigorous base of support for the University. Since the end of the campaign, the numbers of donors and gifts received remain near the record levels set during the campaign. The message is clear: USA's supporters are with the institution for the long haul.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I express my deepest appreciation for your loyalty and support. These challenging times only make your gifts even more necessary and even more appreciated. I assure you that your investment is making the University of South Alabama an even greater institution day by day.

Steven H. Stokes, M.D. '80
USA Board of Trustees
Chair Pro Tempore
Performance 2008-2010

*The individual rate of return on a single endowed account may vary from the total endowment rate of return depending on the amount of funds in the endowed account at the beginning of the fiscal year; the amount of contributions to the account throughout the fiscal year; the timing of the contributions to the account throughout the fiscal year; and the timing of expenditures from the fund.
This fall enrollment at USA set a record- 15,007 students. Providing qualified students access to a top-notch education, regardless of social or economic factors, remains a cornerstone of the University’s mission. Achieving this goal is made more difficult as rising student enrollment coincides with a tuition and fee increase resulting from the downturn in the economy. Fortunately, a growing number of thoughtful and committed donors are bridging this gap by giving to scholarships.
Giving Grows
Nearly 2,000 dedicated alumni, parents, and friends have given $10.7 million for scholarships and have established more than 150 new scholarship endowments since 2006. Among them is Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Graduate School Dr. Keith Harrison, who with his wife Leora Harrison, established the B. Keith Harrison Endowed Scholarship in Chemical Engineering in 2008. The Harrisons furthered their commitment to the scholarship in 2010 with an additional $1 million estate gift. “In view of my many enjoyable years at USA and the beneficial impact that this university has on community, we wanted to contribute to this effort,” Dr. Harrison said. “We felt that funding scholarships for students would have an impact in helping many students become first generation college graduates.”

Success Story
Derrick Nelson is a high school valedictorian from Jackson, Alabama. As a student capable of succeeding but facing potentially insurmountable financial burdens, Derrick illustrates what motivates many of USA’s scholarship donors.

Because both of his parents are disabled, this junior electrical engineering major has depended heavily on scholarships and grants to help finance his education. “Although tuition and campus housing costs have increased this year, these scholarships have provided me with the necessary funds to continue my education,” Derrick explained.

Scholarship support is making it possible for Derrick to make a real contribution to campus life. He serves as a peer advisor and supplemental instructor for the College of Engineering, is vice-president of the University’s chapter of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and participates in intramural sports, all while maintaining a 4.0 grade point average. Derrick appreciates how “these scholarships help me every day to fully participate in campus life,” and he looks forward to the “monumental impact” that earning a college degree will have on his future.

Transforming Lives
Although private scholarships remain a relatively small piece of the University’s financial aid puzzle, the opportunities they create are reshaping recipients’ lives and, through these talented students, elevating academic programs campus-wide. Scholarship gifts are a win for students and for the University. Their impact is immeasurable.

“I want to thank the donors for what they’ve given. They really are changing lives.”

-Derrick Nelson

Scholarship gifts mean that...

“I am motivated to succeed even more because my hard work and efforts have been rewarded.”
-Hijrah El Sabae, Mobile, AL
Williams-Phillips-Van Hook Endowed Scholarship in Chemistry or Nursing

“I can focus on my studies instead of working this semester.”
-Jennifer Black, Hoover, AL
Chi Omega Pearl Endowed Scholarship

“I can afford to participate in a study abroad program in London.”
-Casey Laski, Omaha, NE
Regions Bank Endowed Undergraduate Scholars Program

“I will be adequately prepared to give back to my community and make an impact in my chosen nursing profession.”
-Sara Laubinger, Kansas City, MO
Robert Wood Johnson New Careers in Nursing Scholarship

“I can afford to attend the University even though I am an out-of-state student.”
-Caitlin Jaynes, Fairfield, OH
Daniel Foundation of Alabama Endowed Scholarship for Teachers
The University of South Alabama is fortunate to have more than 8,000 alumni, friends, corporations and foundations who made gifts last year to help attract better students, serve more patients, win more championships, and create more opportunities across the region. Among this generous throng is an elite group whose steadfast support deserves recognition.

Donors who have made a gift each year for a period of five or more years make up approximately 15 percent of this year’s donors—they number only 1,192. What sets this group apart is loyalty and commitment. Who are these unsung heroes and what keeps them committed to building a stronger USA?
Some Are Alumni

Felicia Casey Cooley
Bachelor of Arts
Spanish
Class of 1999

The summer of 1999 was life changing for Felicia Cooley, then a USA student majoring in Spanish. She traveled with nine fellow students to Xalapa, Veracruz, Mexico for a six-week study abroad opportunity at Universidad Veracruzana. Ms. Cooley and her peers lived with local families and took classes with students from other universities around the world.

Her experience of living entirely within another culture and language, as well as the opportunity of getting to know students from many other cultures, had a lasting impact on Ms. Cooley. Because speaking Spanish was a necessity for getting to know others and managing the daily tasks of life, she says that concerns about the correctness of grammar were forgotten. The experience forced her to a new level of fluency, enabling her to find a more natural conversational flow. Since then, as a fluent Spanish speaker, Ms. Cooley has had the opportunity to work in international sales and marketing, and she has used her skills in volunteer work as a translator for migrant workers in Alabama.

At USA Ms. Cooley received financial assistance through the Margaret Pol Stock Award and the Graciella Blanco Scholarship, which made it easier to go to Xalapa. For several years, she has made annual gifts to fund the Felicia Casey Cooley Award granted to a Spanish major solely for study abroad. She says, “I am grateful for the sacrifice on someone else’s part, and I want to keep the cycle going. I want to be part of keeping this opportunity available to students.”

Some Are Employees

Michael P. Spector, PhD
Professor
Biomedical Sciences
College of Allied Health Professions

Dr. Michael Spector conducts research aimed at understanding the genes that mediate the resistance process in the bacterium salmonella. In his lab, controlled experiments reveal how these organisms respond to environmental change, such as extremes of temperature, acid pH, or nutrient deprivation. Discovering what kills the bacteria and what makes it stronger is important work that has implications for the development of drugs and for food processing and handling practices.

Students take part in this research and other projects in the department, learning methods of scientific investigation and learning about themselves, as Dr. Spector knows firsthand. “I had the opportunity to do research as an undergraduate, and it changed the direction of my life,” he said. “I found out that I enjoyed working in the lab and was good at it.” Having an early opportunity to try research is an advantage for students because they can see for themselves whether they have an aptitude, whether they like it, and sometimes, they can achieve success that can help pave the way to further study. “Although it is relatively rare, I have had undergraduate students who were able to publish as the first author on an article,” said Dr. Spector.

Providing research opportunities to undergraduate students can be challenging for faculty members due to the time such mentoring requires and the costs of supplies. There is a high demand from honors students, who must complete a research based thesis, but until recently the department has had no steady source of funding for such projects.

To help bridge this gap, Dr. Spector established the Emma Spector Greenfield Fund for Undergraduate Research. His gifts to establish this fund follow years of support to the Patsy Capps Covey Biomedical Sciences Scholarship. The new research fund honors Dr. Spector’s mother, who died of leukemia in 2006. “She was always interested in hearing about my students and what they were working on,” Dr. Spector recalled. He hopes that the fund will be a resource for many years to come and that alumni who want to support the department will give to keep it going.

Some Are Friends

Spectronics, Inc

Pete Tolbert, Founder

Patrick Tolbert, Owner

Athletic accomplishment was part of Pete Tolbert’s life long before he moved to Mobile in the 1970s. As a teenager and young adult, he excelled at baseball and earned a spot pitching for the Houston Astros.

After an arm injury ended his professional baseball career, Pete followed a business opportunity to Mobile, where he eventually opened his own business, Spectronics Inc., a supplier of electronics parts and data networking supplies.

Pete’s love of sports led him to become an umpire. He began umpiring with local little league parks, where he also started scheduling and assigning umpires for many parks throughout Mobile County. Later, Pete became an umpire with the SunBelt Conference. He began to work games at USA, including baseball and women’s basketball. Through this involvement with USA Athletics, Pete became friends with Coaches Stanky and Kittrell and with then Athletic Director Joe Gottfried. As these friendships grew, Pete became aware of needs in various Jaguar sport programs, and he and his company, Spectronics Inc., made many gifts to strengthen USA Athletics programs. He purchased uniforms, upgraded sound systems, supported renovations to Stanky Field, the club house trophy room, and donated products for the tennis center. Additionally, he helped basketball players by employing them in the off-season.

Patrick Tolbert, Pete’s son, remembers attending USA athletic events with his father from an early age—it was part of their family life. In time, he also recognized how much a part of the Jaguar Athletic family Pete had become.

After purchasing Spectronics from his dad in 2005, Patrick continued to support USA as well and decided to honor his father’s enduring commitment to USA through a gift that will promote excellence across all Jaguar sports programs far into the future. Patrick chose to endow the annual celebration honoring all student-athletes who compete in the 17 Jaguar sport programs—this festive event will be known as the Pete Tolbert Night of Champions.

On April 29, 2010, Pete Tolbert was present to enjoy the honor of the first of these events held in his name. In July, following Pete’s death, Director of Athletics, Joel Erdmann said of him, “Every member of our department would do well to emulate Pete’s class and integrity. He will always be part of the Jaguar family.”

All Are Deeply Appreciated

Three unique stories of enduring generosity possess a common thread: each of these donors exhibits commitment to the University that exceeds a response to an annual fund solicitation. These extraordinary donors saw a need in some part of the University and stepped forward with a solution. Their devotion is characteristic of many others, and, to each one, the University of South Alabama is grateful.
Message from the Vice President

Dear Generous Friends,

Thank you for supporting the University of South Alabama. Every gift is greatly appreciated, and in this time of unprecedented fiscal challenge, the impact of your generosity is amplified.

Despite challenging times, the University of South Alabama continues to advance in accordance with its long term strategic plans. Your gifts sustain this positive momentum, enabling us to pursue excellence as we carry forward our missions of teaching, research, service, and health care at a time when those we serve need us most.

This annual publication recognizes each of you whose gifts are helping to create new opportunities to teach, learn, conduct research, receive medical care, or serve our community. For every name listed here, envision the recipient who has benefited from that new opportunity, and then, imagine a life, a university, a community transformed.

On behalf of everyone at the University of South Alabama, thank you.

Yours sincerely,

Joseph F. Busta, Jr.
Vice President

Philanthropy is based on voluntary action for the common good. It is a tradition of giving and sharing that is primary to the quality of life. To assure that philanthropy merits the respect and trust of the general public, and that donors and prospective donors can have full confidence in the not-for-profit organizations and causes they are asked to support, we declare that all donors have these rights:

- To be informed of the organization’s mission, of the way the organization intends to use donated resources, and of its capacity to use donations effectively for their intended purposes.
- To be informed of the identity of those serving on the organization’s governing board, and to expect the board to exercise prudent judgment in its stewardship responsibilities.
- To have access to the organization’s most recent financial statements.
- To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given.
- To receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition.
- To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by law.
- To expect that all relationships with individuals representing organizations of interest to the donor will be professional in nature.
- To be informed whether those seeking donations are volunteers, employees of the organization or hired solicitors.
- To have the opportunity for their names to be deleted from mailing lists that an organization may intend to share.
- To feel free to ask questions when making a donation and to receive prompt, truthful and forthright answers.

The University of South Alabama is committed to meeting the highest standards of accountability to earn donors’ confidence and therefore endorses and adopts the Donor Bill of Rights. The text of the statement above in its entirety was developed by the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel (AAFRC), the Association for Healthcare Philanthropy (AHP), the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), and the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP), and adopted in November 1993.
The University of South Alabama strives to recognize and honor the important role donors of charitable gifts play in advancing the teaching, research and service missions of the University.

The Honor Roll of Donors recognizes all donors who have made gifts during the fiscal year covered by this volume (FY 2010—October 1, 2009 to September 30, 2010). Donors whose cumulative giving exceeds $24,999 will be recognized by lifetime membership in the Jaguar Society and donors who have made deferred gifts are recognized by lifetime membership in the Legacy Society.

Donors whose gifts are matched by an employer or other organization will be recognized for the full amount of their gift and the matching gift received through their efforts. The company or organization providing the matching gift will also be recognized.

Our publication recognizes donors within the following categories:

The Jaguar Society provides lifetime recognition for donors to the University of South Alabama whose cumulative gifts exceed $24,999. We gratefully recognize these generous supporters through four levels of membership:

- Platinum Jaguar Society – lifetime giving of more than $10 million
- Gold Jaguar Society – lifetime giving from $1,000,000 to $9,999,999
- Silver Jaguar Society – lifetime giving from $100,000 to $999,999
- Bronze Jaguar Society – lifetime giving from $25,000 to $99,999

The Legacy Society provides lifetime recognition for donors who provide for the future growth of the University through deferred gifts.

Annual support for the University is gratefully recognized through:

- President’s Council – donors whose FY 2010 gifts total $1,000 to $24,999
- Century Club – donors whose FY 2010 gifts total $100 to $999
- Friends of USA – donors whose FY 2010 gifts total $1 to $99

Private support is critical to future success of the University of South Alabama (USA). There are many ways to make philanthropic gifts. Gifts can be designated to a department, college, or program. Undesignated gifts will be used where the need is greatest at the President’s discretion.

Gifts can take many forms:

Cash or securities - are the most immediately useable gifts and can be designated for any purpose.

Corporate matching gifts - many companies encourage their employees’ philanthropy by matching the employee’s gift, sometimes doubling or tripling the size of the gift. If you work for a matching gift company, just include your employer’s matching gift form with your gift, and USA will take care of the details. Both you and your company will be recognized for the matching gift.

Gifts of real and personal property - a gift of real estate, works of art, collectibles, rare books, copyrights, oil and gas interests may be made to the University and then sold and the proceeds used for endowment or for capital or operating funds. Gifts of useable scientific equipment or computers may go immediately into the classroom or research laboratory.

Bequest through a will or living trust - many donors find a bequest the most convenient way to leave a legacy to USA.

Charitable trust or other life income plan - various trust arrangements such as charitable remainder unitrusts, charitable remainder annuity trusts and charitable lead trusts may enable you simultaneously to make a gift, retain income from the assets, and secure a tax advantage.

Annuity lead trust - through this instrument a fixed annuity is distributed annually to USA for a specified number of years. At the end of the specified term, the gift principal is distributed to family members.

Life insurance - a life insurance policy that is no longer needed can be donated during your lifetime to support a favorite program. Such a gift offers income and estate tax savings. USA can also be named as owner and beneficiary of a new policy.

Life estates - enable a donor to give his or her home, while retaining use of the home for life. Primary benefits from this type of gift are income tax deductions and direct transfer of the home to the university without probate.

IRA’s and qualified retirement plans - because these assets may be subject to heavy taxation when passed to heirs, they are wonderful assets to consider using for charitable giving. A gift can be made simply by designating USA as a beneficiary of a retirement plan. If, however, you meet the minimum age for withdrawals and would benefit from a deduction to use against your current taxes, you might also consider a lifetime distribution to USA. Due to the dynamic nature of the law, you should consult your tax advisor prior to making such a gift.

Recognizing Our Partners

The University of South Alabama is supported by many individuals, groups and organizations, but none are more important to the University than the USA National Alumni Association, the USA Medical Alumni Association, and the Jaguar Athletic Fund. It is through the fund raising efforts of these great volunteer organizations that scholarships are created; student, faculty, and employee awards are presented; academic programs are supported; athletic programs are enhanced; and school spirit is exemplified.

Medical Alumni Association

The graduates and current students of the College of Medicine are served by the Medical Alumni Association, which funds its activities through a combined membership and annual fund campaign each year. Proceeds of the campaign are dedicated to enhancing the life of the college community through events that bring students and alumni together as well as support for scholarships and awards that encourage and recognize academic achievement.

Annually a range of events supported by the association enrich the medical school experience, including the White Coat Ceremony, Freshman Orientation, Skit Night, and the Caduceus Ball. Alumni Chapter meetings and the Annual Medical Alumni Weekend, which incorporates reunion festivities and CME opportunities, sustain the college’s connections with graduates.

The association's ongoing commitment to funding scholarships and awards grew during the past year with the addition of a legacy scholarship program for children of alumni. Reflecting on the association's recent contributions of more than $30,000 dedicated for scholarships, Dean Samuel J. Strada said, “I am grateful for the executive board’s long-standing commitment to growing scholarship support—it is a critical factor in the College’s ability to attract the best and brightest students. The College of Medicine is fortunate to have alumni leaders who are dedicated to ensuring a stronger future for their alma mater.”

Jaguar Athletic Fund

Embracing the concept of building success through team effort, the Jaguar Athletic Fund (JAF) is a vital partner in promoting the success of each of USA’s 350 student-athletes. Its dedicated volunteers solicit private funds to support all operational aspects of athletics. Their efforts reflect a shared allegiance to the guiding principals of USA Athletics:

- Commitment to graduation
- Commitment to citizenship
- Commitment to championships

This partnership takes on ever greater significance as Jaguar Athletics transitions into the NCAA’s Football Bowl Subdivision, a move that will elevate all of the University’s sport programs into the highest tier of collegiate athletic competition.

Grateful for the JAF’s steadfast support, Director of Athletics, Joel Erdmann says, “JAF funds make a huge difference in athletic operations by allowing us to plan facility renovations, expand scholarship support, recruit top coaches and act quickly when new opportunities arise. I am deeply appreciative of the JAF—it strengthens all of the university’s 17 sport programs.”

USA National Alumni Association

The October dedication of the Moulton Tower and Alumni Plaza represents a major milestone for the National Alumni Association.

The idea to build a bell tower to serve as an enduring landmark on campus formed more than 15 years ago among members of the association’s board of directors. Succeeding boards embraced the idea, raised funds for the project, and expanded the concept to include elements to add function and meaning, including an amphitheatre, walkways, benches, and architectural features to honor distinguished alumni and leaders who have contributed substantially to advancing the institution.

The board’s steadfast commitment to this project kept it alive and growing along with the University, and the result is a spectacular setting for campus events that will populate the memories of generations of future USA alumni.

Dr. Joseph F. Busta, Jr., vice president for development and alumni relations, said of the association’s contribution to the bell tower and alumni plaza project, “The completion of this project represents an unparalleled achievement for the association and demonstrates the immense positive impact that engaged alumni can continue to have on their alma mater. Carrying out a project of this magnitude took sustained commitment by the association’s board. The University community will benefit from their efforts for generations to come, and we are deeply grateful to these dedicated volunteers.”
