Dear publisher,

Thank you for your attention to the enclosed submission. This article is based on research at the University of South Alabama that is funded in whole or in part by grants from the National Institute of Health (NIH). The final manuscript is subject to the mandatory NIH Public Access policy (see <http://publicaccess.nih.gov/policy.htm>). As a matter of US federal regulation, the final, peer-reviewed manuscript must be deposited with the PubMed Central (PMC) database upon acceptance for publication and be made publicly accessible no later than 12 months after publication.

In order to ensure compliance with this mandate and to be sure that copyright is addressed appropriately, we ask that one of the following options be exercise:

1. You, as the publisher, agree to submit the final published article directly to PubMed Central for release within 12 months. In this case, we ask you to inform us when submission is complete, as well as the required reference number(s) which will be used in subsequent NIH applications. OR
2. Where the author retains copyright and takes responsibility for deposit, or where you, as publisher, submit only the final author's version of the article to PMC on the author's behalf, we ask that the publication contract sent to the author upon acceptance include language that allows the author to retain the right to grant a license to the NIH for PubMed Central deposit. Please indicate clearly if you have any requirements about when, within the allowable 12 month period, the article can be made public through PMC. The author will deposit the article in PMC, if necessary, and will verify the final PMC text. OR
3. If the necessary language is not part of your standard publication agreement or copyright transfer, please include this additional wording in the agreement or transfer, which is suggested by the NIH:

"The Journal acknowledges that Author retains the right to provide a copy of the final manuscript to the NIH upon acceptance for Journal publication, for public archiving in PubMed Central as soon as possible but no later than 12 months after publication by Journal."

In case one of these options is not followed, however, we will ask our authors to include this passage as an additional term of any contract they sign and will proceed with depositing the article in PMC in order to ensure that our authors comply with the new Public Access Policy.

Again, please inform us of any applicable embargo up to the allowed 12 month delay. We will deposit the article in PMC.

Thank you for your consideration and cooperation.

Sincerely,
