DEPARTMENT CHAIR OF BIOMEDICAL SCIENCES

The University of South Alabama invites nominations and applications for the position of Chair of the Department of Biomedical Sciences. Minimum qualifications include an earned doctorate in one of the disciplines taught in the program (anatomy, biochemistry, genomics, microbiology, immunology, pharmacology and physiology), experience teaching in that field, with a current rank of Associate/Full Professor. Successful candidates must also show evidence of funded research activity and commitment to excellence in teaching and research. The Chair is expected to provide strategic vision and leadership to the Department and to engage in teaching, research, and scholarship. The Biomedical Sciences Department offers a B.S. degree for students preparing for post-baccalaureate study in a variety of medical/health professional programs and/or basic medical sciences.

Located in Mobile near the Mobile Bay Estuary and the Alabama Gulf Coast, with its beautiful white-sand beaches, the University of South Alabama is a public, doctoral-level institution enrolling more than 16,000 students in nine colleges and schools. Founded in 1963, it seeks to establish itself as a premier academic institution in the southeastern United States. With its Colleges of Medicine, Nursing, and Allied Health Professions and two teaching hospitals, it also serves as a health services center for the region. Mobile is the center of a growing, two-county, metropolitan area (~600,000 residents) with a diverse economy.
