

USA Department of History: African American History, Instructor Position 2021 Search

The Department of History at the University of South Alabama invites applications for a one-year-only Instructor position in African American History to begin August 15, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for up to three years total. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach U.S. History survey courses in General Education and upper-division courses in areas of research expertise, as well as support the Department with historical outreach with local African-American community organizations. ABD or an earned Ph.D. in African American History or a closely related field is required. To receive full consideration, all application materials must be received by March 12, 2021.

Applicants send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and a statement that addresses how they will advance the department's commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive environment through their teaching to history@southalabama.edu.

The search committee may request from some applicants a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and unofficial academic transcripts. Candidates invited for the official campus job interview via Zoom will arrange to have all official graduate and undergraduate transcripts sent directly by the Registrars of all colleges attended to the Chair of the Search Committee, Dr. Rebecca Williams, at the following address:
