Position Title: Nursing Research Faculty Position

Employment Status: Full-Time

Rank: Open Rank

Tenure Status: Tenure-Track

Job Description

The College of Nursing at the University of South Alabama (USA) invites applications and nominations for a full-time nursing faculty member, who has developed a program of research or scholarship that aligns with the missions of the College of Nursing and the University of South Alabama. The College of Nursing is focused on the integration of research, education, and clinical practice. The College of Nursing is seeking tenure-track professors, associate professors and/or assistant professors preferably in these priority areas:

- Obesity
- Health Disparities
- Pediatrics

Candidates with an established program of research or scholarship in any area are encouraged to apply. Appointments may be made at the rank of assistant, associate or full professor, commensurate with experience. Candidates for consideration as professor or associate professor should have consistent and exceptional records of research/scholarship as demonstrated by a history of external grant funding, scholarship (such as publications in peer-reviewed journals), teaching excellence and professional service.

Qualifications

Doctor of Philosophy or equivalent research doctorate in Nursing or a related discipline is required. For a professor or associate professor appointment, the successful candidate will have an established competitive program of research and strong evidence of the ability to develop a competitive program of research at the University of South Alabama. For an assistant professor rank, candidates should have sustained productivity appropriate for their level of experiences and demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary collaboration. Salary and rank will be commensurate with experience.

Evaluation of applications will begin immediately and continue until the positions are filled.
