This project consists of a six-panel public history exhibit that will explore the life and experience of Joseph Bloch (1826-1903). A political refugee from Germany, a 48-er, he became an active member of Mobile's Jewish community. Bloch was also central to the thriving musical culture of the city, conducting and playing in bands and orchestras, and as a beloved teacher of music. He lived through the Civil War in Mobile and wrestled with the political and moral dilemmas of the age. His unique historical voice will be heard through the display which will travel to public sites in the region through 2018.
